Preliminary Assessment of the Probabilistic Risk of Nuclear Power Plant against Aircraft Impact Loading

Short Statement:

BIOGRAPHY

Daegi Hahm was born in Seoul, Korea, in 1975. He received the B.E. degree in civil engineering from the Seoul National University, Seoul, Korea, in 1998, and the M.Tech and Ph.D. degrees in civil engineering from Seoul National University, Seoul, Korea, in 2000 and 2008, respectively.

Since 2008, he has been with the Integrated Safety Assessment Division, Korea Atomic Energy Research Institute, where he was a Senior Researcher.

His current research interests include probabilistic risk assessment of nuclear power plants subjected to aircraft impact loading, and the safety evaluation piping systems in the seismically isolated nuclear power plants.

He is a member of the Earthquake Engineering Society of Korea (EESK) and the Computational Structural Engineering Institute of Korea (COSEIK).
